About the Speaker

John Padan has been a long-time member of the Washington D.C. Section of SME. John was trained as a mine engineer and worked in various positions in industry, consulting, and the Federal Government during his career. A significant part of his career involved evaluation of sea floor mining opportunities. Since retirement John has been actively involved in outreach activities related to SME and the mining industry. Please join us as we honor John for his many career accomplishments and service to the Section and to the Society for Mining, Metallurgy, & Exploration.
